

Political Science General (PLSG)

Programme Outcome

Programme Outcome	The students will become acquainted with different concepts and theories of Political Science.
	The students will gain knowledge about the various constitutional provisions and the way politics operate in India.
	The students will also learn about the political system and constitutions of different countries and a comparative method will be followed to understand the government and politics of these countries.
	The students will also acquire knowledge about International Relations, Global Politics and Foreign Policy of India.
	The students will become familiarize with different Western and Indian Political Thinkers along with the different theories.
	The students will also learn about the relationship between society, state and political conflict.
	The students will also learn about the different theories and concepts of Public Administration along with the way public policy is framed and the administration operates in India.

Course Outcome

Course Name	Course Outcome
Paper CC1 (Introduction to Political Theory)	This paper entitled " Introduction to Political Theory" provides an understanding of the significant concepts of Political Science such as the Normative, Behavioural, Post-Behavioural, Marxist, Feminist approach. This paper takes an attempt to enlighten students about some core concepts of Political Science like State, Sovereignty, Law; Right; Liberty; Equality, Nationalism and Internationalism and also about the meaning and nature of Democracy. This paper further imparts ideas about Marxism and Fascism. And also discuss the role of Political parties and interest groups and Methods of representation.

Paper CC2 (Comparative Government and Politics)	This paper gives a comparative discussion between some countries and their political system and structures. After studying this paper, the students will know the political system of U.K. , U.S.A. , P.R.C. , Bangladesh, France and Switzerland.
Paper: CC-3 (Government and Politics in India)	A healthy democratic nation requires the active and responsible participation of citizenry in all its affairs. To accomplish this ends, it is important to create an academic framework to impart a sense of systematic knowledge and awareness about the structures, patterns and provisions and assorted procedures enshrined in the nation's constitution. This paper endeavors to fulfill this task of educating the students with providing the vast and deep knowledge about their own Indian Constitution. This paper also deals with the practical aspects of Indian constitutional provisions and procedures. In any democratic society, political parties play their significant role in providing all rounds of stability to the state be it in following the model code of conduct in times of general election, government formation, and the acts of coalitional partners in politics in accordance with the constitutional values. Moreover, an attempt hereby has been made to highlight the wide-ranging role of the business group, working class, peasants, religion, language, caste, and tribe in the Indian politics. And the importance of new social movements including environmental movements, women's movements as well have been laid greater emphasis.
Paper- CC4 (International Relations)	A political science student should acquire accurate knowledge about the political issues of the country as well as international politics. For this reason, various theories on international relations have been discussed in this paper, notably Realism, Liberalism, Structuralism and Feminist approach. This paper discusses the Cold War and its aftermath. It tries to enlightened the students about the huge changes in world politics which happened because of the Cold War, the bipolar world suddenly turns into a unipolar world. This paper also gives information about Indian foreign policy
Indian Foreign Policy PLS-G-DSE-A-5-1B	This paper is an attempt to make the students

	understand about the meaning of foreign policy with special focus on India's foreign policy. In addition, the instruments of foreign policy and national interest as an important determinant of foreign policy are also discussed in this paper. Furthermore, the evolution of India's foreign policy, basic principles of India's foreign policy and India's relationship with her neighbours are featured in this paper.
Human Rights: Theory and Indian Context Code: PLS-G-DSE-B-6-2B	This paper seeks to explore how the idea of human rights emerged and the significance of human rights. Besides, the Indian Constitution and the foundation of rights, National and State Human Rights Commissions, problems associated with Human rights in India and how to overcome the problems are analyzed in this paper.
Legal Literacy Code: PLS-G-SEC-3-A(1)	This paper will provide an understanding to the students about the Legal System and their various issues in India. Hence the students will gain some working knowledge about how to protect our rights and be aware of one's duty within the Legal framework. This paper emphasis on criminal jurisdiction - like, detention, arrest, bail, search and process of filing complain. The paper also seeks to focus on the consumer rights, human rights and some special opportunities for women and children.
Elementary Dimensions of Research Code: PLS-G-SEC-4-B(1)	This paper will help the students to acquire a certain attitude of not believing on anything you see and hear, but make clarifications and to further investigate about a specific answer. This paper will help the students to learn important educational research skills, such as how to detect problems, construct hypotheses, review literature, select a suitable research methodology, choose data- collecting instruments, gather and analyse data.
Understanding the Legal System Code: PLS-G-SEC-5-A(2)	The objective of this paper is to help the students acquire knowledge about the judicial system of India. This paper provides and understanding of India's legal system from the grassroots level to the topmost level. The paper focuses on how to protect fundamental rights of the citizens and to make the citizens aware of their fundamental rights. The paper also seeks to explore the representation act and Public Interest Litigations.
Basic Research Methods Code: PLS-G-SEC-6-B(2)	This paper provides an understanding of basic research methods. The first module of this paper deals with Case Study, Survey Approach and Focus Groups. The second module focuses on Experimental research, content analysis and Participant Observation

--	---